Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Investment Objective and Strategies

The investment objective of the Sprott Focused Global Dividend Class (the “Fund”) is to provide consistent income and capital appreciation by investing primarily in a diversified portfolio of dividend yielding global equities.

To achieve the Fund’s investment objective, the Portfolio Advisor follows a fundamental, bottom-up approach to investing. The Fund will invest in dividend yielding global equities, foreign securities, and other mutual funds and may also:

- invest in American Depositary Receipts, private placements, and indirectly in physical commodities other than gold through investments in commodity ETFs;
- engage in securities lending and repurchase and reverse repurchase transactions as permitted by securities regulations to seek to generate additional income;
- engage in short selling in a manner which is consistent with the investment objective of the Fund; and
- use derivative instruments, such as options, futures, forward contracts and swaps, for both hedging and non-hedging strategies.

Risk

The risks of investing in the Fund are described in the Fund’s simplified prospectus. The Fund is suitable for those investors seeking the consistent income and capital appreciation potential of dividend yielding global equities. The Fund is suitable for investors with a medium tolerance for risk and volatility and a medium to long-term investment horizon.

Results of Operations

The Fund, Series A returned -8.3% during the first six months of 2016, while its benchmark, MSCI World Index (CAD), returned -6.0%.

The first six months of 2016 saw substantial volatility in the markets driven by economic and political uncertainty, mixed monetary policy signals and, at the end of the period, shock caused by the decision by Britain’s referendum vote on June 23rd to leave the European Union. Increasingly low and even negative interest rates globally pushed precious metals and their related equities higher in the first six months of the year. Oil rebounded from its lows earlier in the year and with it energy equities.

Consumer Discretionary and Industrials, sectors levered to economic recovery, were the top sectors detracting from performance during the first six months of the year, with the European positions lagging the U.S. holdings.

Travis Perkins Plc., Britvic Plc. and Allergan Plc. were the top individual detractors from performance for the period. Britvic and Travis Perkins are both UK consumer-focused names which sold off materially after the Brexit vote. Britvic distributes Pepsi products in Ireland and the UK and distributes its own line of fruit juices in Europe, Brazil and the U.S. A recent sugar tax announcement had weakened the stock and Brexit added to the negative sentiment. Travis Perkins is the UK version of Home Depot and had begun to weaken as the housing market matured. The Brexit vote is expected to result in a recession in the UK and all domestic-focused UK names have been punished as a result. The U.S. Treasury Department not only effectively blocked Allergan’s merger with Pfizer but also paved the way to unwinding several of Allergan’s past inversion transactions which would expose the company to material tax ramifications.

Currency hedging created the most value in the Fund’s portfolio for the period, reflecting the macro-oriented trading nature of the markets. The utilities sector contributed to performance for the period, as a lack of conviction in the markets benefited defensive sectors.

Brookfield Infrastructure Partners L.P., Equifax Inc. and UnitedHealth Group Inc. were the top individual contributors to Fund positive performance for the period. Brookfield benefited from the strength in the Utilities sector. The company also reported very strong results and outlined a very strong organic growth pipeline to go with several M&A opportunities to drive value creation. Equifax reported very strong Q1 numbers and raised their guidance. The stock had been weak on tepid U.S. mortgage lending activity but the Q1 numbers demonstrated the effects of management’s diversification strategies and the stock responded. UnitedHealth Group also reported strong Q1 numbers and announced plans to exit many state health care exchanges to preserve earnings and margin.

The Fund’s net asset value increased by 126.9% during the period, from $13.3 million as at December 31, 2015 to $30.3 million as at June 30, 2016. This change was predominantly due to net share issuances of $18.7 million. The management expense ratio increased compared to the prior period.

1 The information is provided as at June 30, 2016 and December 31 of the years shown prior to 2016.

2 Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.

3 The Manager may waive or absorb a portion of the operating expenses of the Fund. Waivers and absorption can be terminated at any time.

4 The trading expense ratio ("TER") represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period. The TER includes dividend expense and securities borrowing expense paid by the Fund in connection with securities sold short.

5 The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor trades its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of the Fund.

Past Performance

The indicated rates of return are the historical total returns including changes in share values and assume reinvestment of all distributions in additional shares of the relevant Series of the Fund. These returns do not take into account sales, redemption, distribution or optional charges or income taxes payable by any shareholder that may reduce returns. Please note that past performance is not indicative of future performance. All rates of return are calculated based on the Net Asset Value of the particular Series of the Fund.

Year-by-Year Returns

The following chart indicates the performance of each Series of the Fund for the six-month period ended June 30, 2016 and each of the previous twelve-month periods ended December 31 shown, unless otherwise noted. The chart shows, in percentage terms, how much an investment made on the first day of each period would have grown or decreased by the last day of each period.
